Privacy Statement

Summit Investment Australia Pty Ltd & Controlled Entities (“The Summit Group”) is covered by the National Privacy Principles, (NPPs) as set out in the Privacy Act 1988 (as amended). The NPPs govern the way that we collect, use, disclose, secure and provide access to personal information.

The Summit Group respects the rights of individuals to determine to whom they give their personal information and how this information is used. The Summit Group lawfully collects and uses your information in order to provide you with a high level of customer service and products.

We will be open with you about the kinds of personal information we hold and what we do with it. We will not sell your information to any other organisations. We will strive to ensure that information we collect or use is complete, up to date and accurate. Wherever possible and appropriate we will let you see the information we hold and correct it if it is wrong.

We will store your information in a secure environment and only properly authorised personnel are permitted to access it. We will take steps to protect your privacy if we send personal information about you to other organisations. When we no longer require use of your information, we will take care to properly de-identify or destroy it.

We will continuously assess our performance against our Privacy Policy to ensure customer privacy is respected and properly managed.

A copy of the Summit Group Privacy Policy is available on request.

If you wish to obtain access to your personal information we hold, have any concerns about the way personal information is being managed by The Summit Group, or you believe that a breach of your privacy has occurred, contact us either by e-mail privacyofficer@summitmotors.com.au or by writing to The Privacy Officer, Po Box 120 Rydalmere BC 1701.
